CONTRACTS FOR HIGH SCHOOLS GIVEN DAYTON

Industrial Construction Company Lowest Bidders on Local Job.

BONDS ARE PLACED

Industrial Commission of Ohio to Take $520,000 Xenia School Bonds

The Industrial Commission of Ohio will take the issue of $520,000 Xenia high school building bonds. Simultaneously with this announcement, Friday afternoon, John R. Beacham, business manager of the public schools, said that the contract for erection of the two new high schools, will go to The Industrial Construction Company of Dayton, lowest bidders for the work. The contracts have not yet been formally let, because such an agreement cannot be legally entered into until money on the bonds is actually in the school treasury. As soon as the formalities are completed the construction company will break the ground for the new high schools.

Bids for the construction of the two new schools were received by the board of education June 13. Several times the school men thought that the bond issues had been sold, but technicalities interfered, and it was not until the Industrial Commission announced that it would take the issue that the board could proceed with the building plans. The Industrial Commission notified the school board that it will immediately take $200,000 worth of the bonds, and the rest as fast as the money is needed.

The contract for the construction lay between the winning firm, and the Glpatrick-Dawson company of Pittsburgh. The bid of the Industrial Construction Company on the Central high school was $281,000, on the building and $10,000 for marble hallways. The Pittsburgh firm bid $274,000 on the building proper and $18,000 on the marble work making its bids $1,000 higher than that of the Dayton firm. The bid of the winning firm on East High school was $113,000. Eleven bids were received on the Central, and 14 on East high school. The Industrial Company has built many large buildings, including the Callahan bank building in Dayton.

DARING ROBBERY OCCURS IN TEXAS

Houston, Tex., July 16.—Postal officials are checking their records today to ascertain the contents of a registered mail pouch taken in a daring hold up at the Grand Central Station here by three masked and heavily armed bandits. The robbery occurred while the mail car, one of train No. 17, Houston and Texas Central stood at the station about 10 o'clock Friday night. The bandits also obtained a common mail pouch but it is not believed to have contained anything of value. The registered pouch, it is said, contained a shipment of currency, the value of which probably will run into thousands of dollars.

COMPANIES WANT TO REDUCE RATES

Columbus, O., July 16.—The state utilities commission today has the application of two electric light companies who wish to reduce their service rates. The Richmond Light, Heat and Power Company wants to lower its rate two cents per kilowatt hour, while the Ohio Northern Public Service company, Bowling Green, desires to drop its rate one cent.

McCOOK BALLOON IN AIR

Dayton, O., July 16.—At 8:05 this morning, McCook field's first balloon, designed there, rose in the air and started down the valley toward Germantown, and other cities south. A 3 or 4 hour ride is expected by Capt. Alan McFarland, of the balloon section, Lt. K. Sloans Mai, H. Davidson, A. L. Stevens and W. E. Hoffman.

LANDSLIDE OCCURS IN PANAMA CANAL

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, July 16.—A landslide in the Culebra cut partially blocked the Panama Canal today. The eastern and central parts of the waterway were obstructed but a channel 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep was left open along the western bank. Navigation will not be impeded except in case of the very largest ships. Dredges are already at work and it is expected that the canal will be cleared in about ten days.

The battleships which are en route from New York to Peru to take part in a national celebration were not delayed. Although there have been slides from time to time that section of the bank which slipped into the waterway had never been regarded by the canal zone authorities as a menace to navigation.

PRESIDENT HARDING JOINS THE REDMEN.

President Harding was made a life member of the Loyal Order of Redmen when a delegation from the Order called at the White House the other day and "initiated" the President. The photo shows President Harding with the visiting Redmen.

Anglo-French Relations Are Becoming Strained

Alleged "Secret Diplomacy" of French Furnishes One of Principal Complaints of British—Bad Faith is Charged.

London, July 16, Anglo-French relations are losing their former cordiality. It was admitted in semi-official circles today that the old enmity between London and Paris is becoming strained through an accumulation of developments over which the British claim to have ground for grievances.

The alleged French tendency for "underground work" or "secret diplomacy" furnishes one of the principal complaints of British officials.

Apart from the general tendencies of the past twelve months British diplomats make three distinct allegations of bad faith against France. 1.—After the London conference on the near east, France made a secret agreement with the Turkish nationalists. At the present time France is negotiating with Bekir Sami Bey, the Turkish nationalist foreign minister while refusing to give Great Britain any information as to the object of the negotiations.

2.—France withdrew her commission from the war criminals court at Leipzig without consulting England or giving any intimation of her intention.

3.—France "bluffed" the supreme council regarding Upper Silesia and is refusing to take measures to restore the Silesian situation.

NEXT MOVE IS NOW UP TO JAPAN IN DISARMAMENT

U. S. Makes Answer to Question Concerning Conference.

Washington, July 16.—The next move in the disarmament game is Japan's it appeared today.

The United States, it is understood has made answer to the Japanese inquiry concerning the scope of President Harding's suggested disarmament conference and has informed the leaders of the oriental nation that the question of scale is one which is to be decided by the conferring nations and not by the inviting nation or any one nation.

Reports from Paris that the disarmament commission of the league of nations is apparently disposed to defer action pending the conference proposed by this nation were received with satisfaction in official circles for it has been suggested that Japan might express a desire to let the proposed conference go by the boards on grounds that it was a member of the league of nations which had already started disarmament proceedings.

Until Japan gives a final answer as to her willingness to participate in the conference it is probable that there will be no definite step forward taken in the conference matter, but that informal exchanges of views will continue between the interested nations in an effort to shape the agenda of the parley.

GIVEN AUTHORITY TO ISSUE BONDS

Washington, July 16.—The Chicago Union station company today was granted authority by the Interstate Commerce commission to issue $6,000,000 of first mortgage bonds. Series C, the proceeds to be used solely on a union passenger station. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and the Pennsylvania railways are to assume the liabilities of guaranteeing the payment of the principal and interest on these bonds.

SLEEPER FALLS FROM WINDOW.

Dayton, O., July 16.—It was hot here last night and Andy Toth slept near a window, two stories up, was awakened but not hurt when he rolled out.

GIRL 16 IN LOVE WITH MAN 63

Akron, July 16.—Armeta Roy, 16, sits in the county jail here awaiting the turn of the law's wheels which may enable her to marry Tom Howland, 63, well known horse owner in Ohio.

Armeta came to Akron a few days ago from her home in Hendricks, W. Va. Her family formerly lived here, where she met Howland. After she went back to her native state with her parents, Howland opined he couldn't live without her and so wrote her to come and be his bride.

She consented and came, but before she reached Akron her two brothers caused her apprehension by Sheriff Pat Hutchinson on her arrival.

Howland is a bachelor thrice the age of the girl, but swears his love for her and is ready to fight for his rights.

Now Armeta's dad is on the way from Hendricks. If he makes up his mind that Howland is the man for his daughter, he'll give his consent, otherwise the proposed marriage will be delayed until the girl is old enough.

PHONE COMPANY SEEKS REHEARING

Columbus, July 16.—The Ohio State Telephone Co., filed in supreme court yesterday application for rehearing of its suit with the city, in which the court held recently that rates cannot be raised above those named in its franchise of 1899.

The fact that the decision was by four to three vote, with each of the four having a different reason, is the company's main argument for rehearing.

Ray Martin, special counsel in the attorney general's office, yesterday filed with the public utilities commission the state's protest against discontinuance of service on the part of the Columbus Natural Gas Co., which supplies the state serum plant at Reynoldsburg.

George T. Poor, chairman of the public utilities commission, asked the attorney general yesterday for a ruling whether under the reorganization law, public utilities still must pay salaries, and expenses of former employees of the commission.

The Richmond Light, Heat & Power Co., filed a rate schedule for a two cent per kilowatt hour decrease, and the Ohio Northern Public Service Co. for one-cent per kilowatt hour decrease.

STATE GETS OVER $170,000 IN FINES

Columbus, O., July 16.—Of the fines collected from violators of the Crabbe prohibition act between the date of its effectiveness, after the November election last year, and the close of fiscal year, June 30, last, $176,787 were paid into the state treasury and an equal amount went into the treasuries of the local political subdivisions where the fines were imposed, State Auditor Tracy announced.

Additional thousands of dollars were turned into municipal treasuries under special dry ordinances passed by councils in various cities. These ordinances provide that all the fines imposed upon dry violators shall go into the city treasury.

HELD FOR MURDER

New York, July 15.—Charles Coletto, 1210 Paul Avenue and Dominick Benigno, 1909 Scoville Avenue, both of Cleveland, Ohio, waived examination in Adams street court, Brooklyn, and were held to await extradition to Ohio on charges of murder.

BATTERY D HOLDS REUNION.

Dayton, O., July 16.—Using Tri-angel park where they trained before the country entered the war, Battery D is holding its first reunion here this afternoon.

LOYD GEORGE READY TO USE "PERSUASIVE" MEANS

Premier Determined Not to Permit Ulsters to Break Up Peace Negotiations—Sinn Fein Proposals Now Under Consideration.

London, July 16.—Leading members of the cabinet of the Ulster government arrived here today in response to a summons from Sir James Craig, the North Ireland premier, and immediately took under consideration the Sinn Fein peace proposals that had been communicated to Premier Lloyd George by Devalera, president of the president of the Irish republic.

It was admitted there may be some hitch if the Unionists are obdurate against accepting Devalera's conditions, but it was reported that Lloyd George was ready to "use more than persuasion" on the Ulsterites to prevent them from breaking up the peace negotiations.

Officials believe it is unlikely that Sir James Craig will meet the premier again Monday when the latter renews his peace conversations with Devalera.

It is understood that Devalera and James Craig are fully acquainted with the details of each other's proposals. The impression prevails that Devalera is willing to accept dominion home rule, but insists upon a central government in Ireland.

Premier Lloyd George has gone to his country home at Chequers for the week end. He will return early Monday morning to learn the result of the conference of the Ulster cabinet before he meets Devalera for their third conference.

The Chronicle believes that the conversations between Lloyd George and Devalera will be continued Monday and Tuesday and possibly Wednesday. Devalera according to the Chronicle will probably return to Dublin about the middle of next week to obtain the consent of Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein parliament) before meeting Sir James Craig. If Dail Eireann consents then the scene will be set for a general parley with Devalera and his colleagues representing the republicans, Sir James Craig and his colleagues and Premier Lloyd George with two other officials representing England and the British government.

Japanese Military Plans In Siberia May Be Halted

Disarmament Conference May Put Crimp in Nippin's Activity in Asia, Supporters of Harding's Proposal Declare—Report to be Made.

Tokio, July 15.—(Delayed)—Supporters of President Harding's proposal for a disarmament conference expressed the opinion today that such a conference would interrupt and perhaps block entirely Japanese military activity in Siberia. It is charged by political opponents of the Harra administration, that Japan is illegally holding Vladivostok and other places.

While the diplomatic advisory council has announced that Japan will participate in the proposed disarmament conference such participation is opposed by some of military leaders. They profess to see in the disarmament a serious obstacle to Japanese plans in Asia.

The American commercial attaché who has just returned from Siberia where he investigated conditions in the far east republic, will make a personal report to Secretary of State Hughes.

The investigator refused to say whether he had found that Japan is negotiating for a treaty with the far east republic. It is possible that the report of the commercial attaché to the American secretary of state may have some bearing upon the proposed disarmament and far east conference.

Count Ozaki, leader of the disarmament movement in Japan, declared today that Japan should take part in the disarmament conference.

"We have everything to gain from such a meeting," said Count Ozaki. "I think it was a mistake however to invite China."

CHICK EVANS TO FIGHT FOR TITLE

Chicago, July 16.—For the sixth time in twelve years Charles Chick Evans, Jr., national amateur golf champion will fight for the western open amateur title today when he meets Rudy Knepper, Iowa state champion, in the final round of the western amateur championship tournament at Westmoreland.

Because of his long experience in tournament play, Evans is regarded as a probable winner of today's struggle.

PASSES AWAY ON FRIDAY EVENING

Mrs. Alice Huston Winans, widow of James Winans, one time prominent attorney in Xenia, died at 5 o'clock Friday evening after an invalidism of five years' duration, the result of paralysis.

Mrs. Winans was born in New Jasper, July 18, 1869, and was nearing the fifty-second anniversary of her birth when she died. She was a daughter of the late John and Sarah Huston. She had spent all her life in Greene County with the exception of three years when she was with her son James in California.

Her marriage to Attorney James Winans took place in this city in 1891. Two sons, Thomas and James were born to them. Thomas who was studying for the ministry died four years ago. James is living in Oakland, Cal. Two sisters also survive. Mrs. Winans: Mrs. Susie Thurber of Lakport, N. Y., and Mrs. Anna Simmonson of West Third St. Xenia. She was a lifelong member of the First Methodist Church.

Funeral services will take place at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning, Standard time, at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clint Sanders at 117 East Second street. Burial will be made at the Dean cemetery. Friends wishing to view the remains may do so at any time Tuesday afternoon or evening.

ELLIOTT APPOINTED EXAMINER IN BLUE SKY DEPARTMENT

Columbus, O., July 16.—State securities commissioner Stewart has announced the appointment of Attorney John M. Elliott, Cleveland, former resident of Lisbon, as attorney examiner in the blue sky department. Elliott formerly held a similar position in the state banking department. During the past two years he has been practicing at Cleveland.

NEAR CLOUD BURST HITS HUNTINGTON

Huntington, W. Va., July 16.—Huntington experienced a near cloud burst late yesterday, which tied up street cars and vehicle traffic to the south side for several hours, and washed out many gardens and small crops. The Eighth and Tenth Street viaducts under the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, leading to the southside were flooded to the depth of ten feet. One automobile which failed to get through before the water reached its height was completely inundated. Several machines which tried to negotiate the viaducts after the flood had partly receded, were put out of commission by the water and were towed in to garages later.

GIBBONS MATCHED WITH CARPENTIER

New York July 16.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul's flashy heavyweight probably will be matched with Georges Carpentier before sundown tonight. Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, has conferred with Tex Rickard more than two hours discussing details of the match. They were scheduled to meet again today and Kane indicated that he expected to sign articles.

Promoter Rickard is undecided regarding the site of the match. He plans to hold it either in his big arena at Jersey City or in Madison Square Garden.

COAL MINERS STRIKE

Amsterdam, July 16.—The German coal miners throughout the Ruhr district have gone on strike demanding abolition of the coal tariff agreement, according to a message from Dusseldorf today.

ESCAPES DEATH CHAIR AS JURY GIVES VERDICT

Will Spend Rest of Life in Institution at Marysville.

MERCY RECOMMENDED

Jurors After Five and Half Hours' Deliberation Pronounce Guilt.

Courthouse, Cleveland, O., July 16.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber is saved from the electric chair.

The twelve men who sat as her judges today found her guilty of murder in the first degree as arch conspirator in the murder of her husband, Daniel Kaber, but recommended mercy.

From men she had hoped for mercy. Branding her own sex as "merciless" she had fought to bar women from the jury.

A verdict of guilty in the first degree, with recommendation by the jury of mercy carries with it a penalty of life imprisonment.

Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber was carried into the courtroom to receive the verdict decreeing her guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation of mercy.

She looked a mere breathing image of a woman as two bailiffs seated her in the defendants chair.

Her head rested on the shoulders of the bailiff as the court in solemn tones read the verdict.

She was unable to talk but nodded her head when the court asked whether she had heard the decree of twelve judges.

Mrs. Kaber lay in her jail cell in a stupor when Judge Bernon arrived to receive the verdict.

The court was undecided whether it would be legal for the jury to render a verdict while she was unconscious. Official confirmation of the verdict was received before the jury made official report.

Her counsel, Francis W. Poulson went to her with the announcement of the verdict in hope it would restore her.

Judge Bernon announced the convicted woman will be sent to the Ohio reformatory for women at Marysville, Ohio, to spend the rest of her life.

Attorneys for both sides expressed with recommendation of mercy precludes all possibility of pardon.

Mrs. Kaber will be the first woman sent from this county to the Marysville institution.

Attorneys for both sides expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

Prosecutor Edward Stanton. "The woman was guilty. She will be locked up where she can do no harm. Justice was done."

The woman's chief counsel, William J. Corrigan, said:

"We could expect nothing less and we are gratified it was not the electric chair. The woman is not responsible and it would have been a crime to sentence her to death."

Mrs. Kaber is the first woman to be found guilty of first degree murder in the history of this county.

Most of them had spent a sleepless night, they said.

They were at the courthouse at 4 o'clock this morning ready to resume their deliberations.

Before they went to their hotel at 10 o'clock last night, they were at issue as to whether to impose the supreme penalty or recommend mercy.

They determined on a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree about an hour after they began deliberations. They reported.

The jury's verdict ended the most notorious murder trial in the history of Cleveland.

Never was there a case in which was aroused such public interest throughout the state and kindred public feeling to such a high pitch.

The murder of Daniel Kaber, rich Cleveland publisher and a member of one of the city's oldest families was the result of a plot as fantastic as a lurid movie drama, and with all the features of a medieval crime.

Hired killers, Italian "black hands," stabbed the publisher as he lay in his bed, a helpless invalid.

A "fake" robbery was arranged between them and Mrs. Kaber. The Italians were to share with her and others in the plot the wealth of the slain man.

The murder was committed two years ago. Although suspected of complicity in the crime, there was no evidence at that time to capture her arrest.

She later disappeared. It was the slain man's 75 year old father, Moses Kaber, who played the role of Nemesis and for two years relentlessly pursued her until he had the evidence to apprehend her and the other principals in the plot.

She was arrested in New York after her 19-year old daughter Marian McArdle, former Smith college student had been taken into custody.

GREENE COUNTY IS WELL REPRESENTED AT CHAUTAUQUA

(By Estelle B. Clark)
Chautauqua, N. Y.—(Special to the Gazette and the Republican)—Greene County is fairly well represented already at Chautauqua, some half dozen people having registered at the bureau. Miss Mary Gretzinger and Mrs. C. A. Hornick of 39 East Third Street are stopping at 29 Miller Avenue; Mrs. E. B. Clark of Antioch at 16 Center; Miss Glenna Pultz at the Overlook Camp and Miss Margaret Meredith and Miss Lucille Cery at the Ohio Cottage. I had the pleasure of seeing, at the Community Sing the other evening, Miss Chapman, granddaughter of Judge Mills of Antioch fame, who with her father was motoring from Cleveland to Buffalo.

Dr. Fess's support of the Shepherd-Towner Bill was mentioned in gratifying terms recently in a big Woman's Club meeting addressed by Mrs. Maude Wood Park, the very capable president of the National Women Voter's League. Most of the women at Chautauqua, it would seem, are either actually enrolled in classes for the study of politics or are absorbing the information necessary to intelligent voting through such clear-headed, practical talks as these of Mrs. Park.

The season is now well under way, with the opening of the music program, and the arrival of noted lecturers and speakers.

Styles BY LENORE

Little wheels of pleated ribbon give individuality to a frock that de- cidedly foudlard is the thing for mid- summer. It is a small all-over pattern printed in raspberry red on a creamy background. As fashion demands little else of the summer frock than that it be airy light and cool, the design is planned on the simplest of lines—a moderately full skirt, entirely plain; the graceful loosely bloused bodice bound with red ribbon to match the girdle; and unmistakable chic in the sleeves, which is a hint of what is to be expected in the fall.

As this is one of the advance style points of the season, she who is making a silk frock with one eye for immediate service and the other for later wear, will do well to copy this model preferably in crepe de chine or Canton crepe, in such colors as gray, beige or Copenhagen blue, shades as suitable in the fall as at the present time.

The hat that so effectively shades the face is of black Milan straw with a swirl of glycerined ostrich plumes.

PATTERN NO. 210
A pattern for the above model (No. 210) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th Street, New York City, your name, address, the number of this pattern and the size required and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time.—The Editor.

GOLF AND HOW TO PLAY IT

By Chas. Chick Evans Jr.

Care of the Hands

When I first played this spring my clubs seemed strange indeed as any clubs must when one lets up playing for awhile, but the right feel soon comes back.

I started my practice on a small scale, because I have learned that one makes faster progress if he practices two or three times a day before he plays a round in the beginning of the season.

There was one little thing that I had to contend with that golfers are inclined to overlook, and that was a little trouble with my hands.

To play golf well the hands must be in perfect condition. A little hangnail here, or a cut there, might be the thing that made you flinch unknowingly to the loss of your stroke. There is no necessity for big blisters and sores. It is true that the grip tears the skin of the palm during the swing and especially at the impact, therefore use special care.

Take Care of Your Hands

Begin your practice carefully, and work gradually up to your proper amount. See that your nails are cut close, so that when you wrap your fingers around the grip they do not dig into the palms. If in spite of care your hands blister I advise letting the water out by a prick of the needle into the watery part from a point on the outside. This leaves the skin loose. Over it place a piece of cloth and a bit of adhesive plaster over that. When I begin to practice each spring my hands start to get very sore. The moment I detect a slight redness I put on the piece of cloth and the adhesive plaster. Then at night I put on and rub in thoroughly a mixture composed of half witch hazel and half arnica. (If the skin is broken, arnica cannot be used.) A physician might be able to give you a better toughener than this, which happens to be my standby in time of hand trouble. This method has worked well with me and I never have any trouble after the first two weeks. I cannot use gloves, for I seem to lose the sense of touch through them. I saw Lawrie Jenkins wearing gloves when he won the British Championship in 1914, but they seemed to be peculiarly made so that he could get the sense of touch through them. I judge from that the wearing of gloves is largely a matter of individual taste.

Avoid Callouses.
The hands of some of our greatest players are amazingly calloused. Many golfers are delighted to find that their callouses are the same as those of some famous player, for they believe that it shows that they are gripping their clubs right. I would not like to say how that may be, but for myself I avoid callouses and hardly have one on my hands. In my playing the sense of touch seems to have a great deal to do with my getting the most out of my clubs. Experience will show each player the best system for himself.

LAST RITES ARE PAID DECEASED

Services for Henry Haninger were held at the home of his sister, Miss Minnie Haninger, on South Detroit street, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The Elks' Club, of which Mr. Haninger was a member, held ritualistic services.

Funeralbearers were Martin Binder, Henry Sinz, H. L. Binder, Harley Cleaver, John Puerle, and William Dodds. Interment was made at Woodland cemetery.

RED CROSS WILL HOLD NATIONAL CONFERENCE IN FALL

Columbus, July 16.—A national convention bringing together American Red Cross workers from all parts of the country will be held in Columbus, Ohio, on the state fair grounds, October 3 to 8.

President Warren G. Harding has accepted an invitation to address the delegates contingent upon public business permitting him to go to Columbus at that time, and the session will be addressed by other speakers of national and international prominence.

The purpose of the convention will be to bring together for inspiration and counsel concerning the permanent activities of the Red Cross as many workers as possible.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work every day, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about your medicine and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments. You may use my testimonial as you like."—STELLA LINX WILDER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Indiana.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linx-wilder's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Eternal Youth

Any woman who feels that she twenties or even her thirties should read the story of Ninon de Enclos who, at the age of 70, might have passed for a plump 25, might have remained adorable till her death in 1831. There is a profile portrait of her when she was 70, which shows better than anything else her marvellous youth.

She was born in Paris in 1616, and died there in 1703. Four years after a friend and medical attendant published a little pamphlet telling how she kept her youth. It seems to have been a means of advertising toilet articles of which she probably never heard, but it does describe also various facial and bodily exercises which she took, and which were probably an effective means of preserving her youth.

Her maid said that she sometimes wore a metal face mask with cosmetics. Undoubtedly this was a mean soft feeding the skin and of clearing the pores, but this alone would never have kept her young. She must have taken exercises to strengthen the muscles, otherwise, they would have sagged and the flabby lines would have made her looked aged.

For 70 years she held undisputed sway over the hearts of the most distinguished men and women of France. When she was 85 years old Louis XIV declared that she was the marvel of his reign, and said that she had a figure as symmetrical and elastic as a willow, a dazzling white complexion, sparkling black eyes and a captivating smile.

M. M. M.—Singe the ends of your hair every six weeks. A good toilet water will not injure the skin, if used in moderation. It is mildly astringent and some skins need this. It is also refreshing. Equal parts of glycerine and rose water make a good mixture for keeping the hands soft and white. As it is quickly absorbed and leaves the skin dry, this can be used each time after the hands are washed or until the skin is in first-class condition.

Martha.—You are about 20 pounds overweight. I am wondering if you realize that gaitre should be treated or operated upon to get rid of it as quickly as possible? As you are so extremely young and have no mother, I am taking the liberty of advising you. You cannot be as efficient in your house-keeping for the family as long as you have this gaitre. You really should consult your physician about this.

M. J. C.—If you send a stamped addressed envelope, I will mail you is excellent for hair that is turning grey prematurely.

RED WING Means Ice Cream Supreme

Several hundred steps are required before RED WING Ice Cream comes to you. The cream is tested, the granulated cane sugar is analyzed and all other ingredients passed through a chemical and bacteriological laboratory before going to the big freezing rooms. Then there is more testing—for there must be that correct RED WING proportion—and ultimately the ice cream lies in frigid storage rooms and hardens before leaving the factory. All this is done because the public recognizes the RED WING taste and wants it. Our Ice Cream must be found every day the same. RED WING fulfills these demands so that when the dealer is asked for RED WING he knows that you want some of that superior ice cream. There are many ways in which RED WING is served and there are many flavors to please the palate. Your dealer will be glad to tell you about them. Try RED WING this evening and you will not have to be reminded of it again.

FIREMAN CALLED TO STOP ESCAPE

Dayton, July 16.—Charged with attacking 15 year old Charlotte Schock, George Corbett, 26, was bound to grand jury today and escorted to jail by two policemen, determined to keep him from liberty. Last night he ran from headquarters but was caught and after placed in the city prison climbed up a cold air duct, refusing to come down until firemen pointed a hose at him. Neighbor women heard the Schock girl scream and prevented an assault, they say. The girl was a nurse girl at the Corbett home.

CAR STRIKE STILL TIES UP DAYTON

Dayton, July 16.—The eleventh day of Dayton's street car strike, brought no promise of resumption of traffic soon. The carmen today turned down the owners' suggestion of a 45 cent hour maximum wage scale. The carmen also objected to what they claimed was a dictation of whom would be on their committee for conferences.

IS PROMINENT IN THE AFFAIRS OF HIS TOWNSHIP

Mr. David Archer, prominent farmer of Beavercreek Township and well known in Greene County has resided on his farm near Alpha for the last 50 years. Although 75 years of age, Mr. Archer takes an active interest in the affairs of the community, especially in education, a subject that has always demanded his attention.

For twelve years he served his township as trustee, and last year was a candidate at the primary for nomination as commissioner. Mr. Archer was honor guest at a surprise party given last Saturday evening, at his home, by the Mt. Zion Memorial Society, at which occasion he was presented with a gold-headed cane by the members of the organization, of which he has been the president for a dozen years.

IMPOSING ARRAY OF TALENT BOOKED FOR BIBLE MEETING

An imposing array of talent is announced for the sixth annual Xenia Bible Conference which will be held this year in the First M. E. Church, August 7-14. The general character of the conference is unchanged. Dr. R. A. Hutchison of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be in charge. He has spared no pains to make this year's program better than any that has preceded.

The moving of the seminary accounts for the changing from the use of a big tent on the seminary grounds but the First M. E. church with its furnishings including electric fans insures comfort no matter what the weather may be.

One new name appears, that of William Edgar Geil. He is one of the world's great explorers. The mountains of the Moon in the heart of Africa where no white man had ever been before; the Pygmy lands with their strange little people; the great Chinese wall; the sacred mountains of China; have all been made known and the world through the books of this author-explorer. He is no less an orator. He handles an audience of 8,000 people as easily as a caravan of natives in unknown regions. Dr. Geil is a member of the Royal Geographical Society of London and his name and his books are well known to the great travelers and scientists of the world. He will be at the Bible Conference on Friday evening August 12.

DINNER STORIES

"Now, that's a cigar, sir, you could offer to any of your friends," said the dealer.

"Quite so! Quite so! But I want one I can smoke myself!"

Mrs. Bliffkins met Mary Smith, whom she had recommended to a neighbor for a situation. "Good morning, Mary!" she said. "Good morning, ma'am!" answered Mary.

"How are you getting on at your new place?" asked Mrs. Bliffkins. "Very well, thank you," was the reply.

"I am glad to hear it," remarked Mrs. Bliffkins. "Your employer is a very nice lady and you cannot do too much for her."

"I don't mean to, ma'am," replied Mary.

Circus Man (searching for elephant that has escaped)—Say, Uncle Ezra, have you seen anything of an elephant around here?

Uncle Ezra—No, sah; I ain't seen no elephant but I see a big gray bull eatin' mah corn wiv his tail.

Senator Knox was once compelled by financial affairs to visit a boom town in the west.

In the evening, as he sat in the office of the corrugated iron hotel trying to digest a dinner of salt pork and beans, the landlady thrust a three-cent cigar into his hand and said:

"I surely am proud of Boomville. Would you believe it, that two years ago there wasn't no town here at all?"

"Humph," said Senator Knox. "And what makes you think there is one here now?"

ELECTED PRESIDENT Cleveland, O., July 16.—George E. Leach of Minneapolis, was today elected president of the Rainbow Division veterans association. Matthew A. Tinley of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was elected honorary president.

LLOYD GEORGE DETAINED London, July 16.—Despite his desire to attend Premier Lloyd George probably will be prevented by the Irish situation from heading the British delegation to the Washington disarmament conference. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

MEMBERS COUNTRY CLUB RAISE $3.200 AT MEETING FRIDAY

The business meeting held by 100 members of the Xenia Country Club, following the chicken dinner served at the Club, Friday evening, met with success, $3,200 dollars being subscribed to meet the Club's financial obligations.

With a starter of $500 dollars subscribed by Frank Connable, former Xenian, vice-president of the DuPont Powder Company, subscriptions came in fast, and members of the Club are greatly pleased with the amount gained.

Subscriptions secured at the meeting were as follows: Frank Connable, 5 shares; R. A. Kelly, one share; Mrs. R. J. Kelly, one share; Miss Bertha Trebin, one share; J. Charles Dodds, three shares; J. Kenneth Williamson, one share; Charles Kelbie, one share; P. H. Flynn, one share; Mrs. Marcus Shoup, one share; Miss Emma Davidson, and Mrs. Mary M. Meredith, one share; Charles Weaver, one share; Charles Fisher, one share; Dr. W. H. Finley, one share; Mrs. George R. Schuster, and Mrs. William Eavey, one share; Judge Marcus Shoup, two shares; Mrs. P. H. Flynn one share; Mrs. Mary Dice, one share; George Kelly, two shares; Walker Gibney, one share; Frederick Flynn, and C. W. Murphy, one share; J. A. Chew, one share; Arthur Perrill, one share; Howard Little, one share; Dr. N. T. Pavey, one share.

Each of the members who subscribed to the fund, previously held stock in the club. Following the taking of the subscriptions, a financial statement of the Club's standing was given, which proved satisfactory.

The members who were present at the meeting, numbering 100 enjoyed dancing, following the supper and business meeting.

STEP TOWARD COMMUNISM MADE

Washington, July 16.—The state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, is about to make a step toward communism according to a report to the state department by a group of officials here.

The legislature of Vera Cruz, in a special session, has passed a law providing that one half of the profits of all industry in the state shall be divided among the workers annually, according to the report.

American industries do not have extensive holdings in Vera Cruz but the Aguilera Oil Company, a British concern, has large holdings.

MURDERERS SENTENCED Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—Raymond W. Schuck and Frank J. James convicted slayers of David S. Paul, aged Camden, N. J., bank runner, were today sentenced to die during the week of August 28.

No appeal will be taken to the New Jersey supreme court but application for a pardon will be made to the state board of pardons.

BERGDOLL UP AGAIN. Washington, July 16.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft dodger, now in Germany, has made charges against certain army officers declaring that he gave them money to fix his escape according to information under consideration today by the house committee which is investigating the Bergdoll affair.

REGISTRATION LAW EFFECTIVE AUGUST 14 IN THE STATE

The law requiring registration of motor vehicles and bill of sale to be given in event of sale or change in ownership of motor vehicles comes effective August 14.

The clerk of courts is the official named to have charge of the work connected with such registration. The law was enacted for the purpose of preventing traffic in stolen cars.

Harvey Elam, clerk of the courts elect who takes his office August 1, has obtained from Prosecuting Attorney J. K. Williamson, an interpretation of the law which is known as Senate Bill No. 3.

The prosecutor's communication follows: "This law becomes effective August 14, 1921, and is applicable to all motor vehicles sold or transferred after this date. That is to say it does not apply directly to a motor vehicle purchased directly from a manufacturer or a dealer prior to the passage of the act.

"The law is applicable however, to the transfer, prior to the passage of the act, of such motor vehicles as have been sold or title transferred in some other way from the person who first took title to it from the manufacturer, importer or dealer, to some second person or the transfer of what are commonly known as second hand or used motor vehicles.

"This act further requires that every corporation, partnership, association or person in the manufacture of motor vehicles, or the importer of motor vehicles selling or transferring the title to a motor vehicle either directly or through their agent, shall, at or before such transfer of title, execute in the presence of two witnesses a bill of sale to be made in duplicate, both copies to be passed to the person receiving such motor vehicles, such bill of sale to be in prescribed form the form to be obtained from the clerk of the courts. The person receiving title to such bill of sale shall take the said bill of sale to the clerk of courts where the bill and the duplicate thereof shall be stamped with the official seal and a copy placed on file with the clerk.

"With regard to used motor vehicles and this applies both to cars purchased before and after the passage of this act an original bill of sale, with all assignments, shall be placed on file in the clerk's office.

"At the time of filing such bill of sale the owner of the motor vehicle must make a sworn statement that he is the owner and the clerk must then furnish a certified copy to be delivered to the owner, that such person is the owner of the motor vehicle or used motor vehicle.

"It is unlawful to drive or operate a motor vehicle upon the public highway without having a bill of sale on file with the clerk of the courts, together with the sworn statement.

Penalties of from $25 to $1000 and imprisonment for periods of from one month to one year, are provided for violations of the terms of the law.

Mr. Elam, clerk of the courts-elect, has issued the following statement regarding the new law:

"Automobile owners will greatly oblige the incoming Clerk of the Courts by observing the following suggestions:

"1. All papers should be presented at the office of the Clerk of Courts made out in duplicate. When thus made out the Clerk will make the following charges for filing indexing, etc.:

"Motor vehicle bill of sale 25 cents.
"Used motor vehicle bill of sale 25 cents.

"Sworn statement of ownership if presented in duplicate 10 cents.
"2. All notaries in the county should obtain an adequate supply of blanks to take care of any calls that may be made for their services. These blanks will be furnished free and should be in the hands of the Clerk not later than August 1st. I shall be glad to mail them to notaries living outside of Xenia on application.

"Mr. F. J. Slackford, Secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club, already has a supply of blanks on hand, and will be glad to explain the law and make out papers for all auto owners whether members of the Club or not. He will charge nothing but the usual notary fees.

"If not convenient to have this service performed by a notary, the Clerk of Courts will be glad to serve the auto owners of the county. In the interest of economy, the clerk-elect hopes to be able to care for this business without increased expense to the county for clerical help. This may not be possible if auto owners claim the service of the office force in making up these papers, in any considerable numbers. The Clerk-elect welcomes suggestions in his endeavors to make this service efficient and at the lowest possible cost.

"The attention of the public is invited to the communication from the Prosecuting attorney of the county in reference to this matter."

ORDERS CHARGES BE DISMISSED

Washington, July 16.—Attorney General Daugherty has ordered that charges against Captain Robert Rosenbuth of New York and Poland Potkin of Providence, R. I., in connection with the death of Major Alexander Cronkite of Camp Lewis, Wash., be dismissed.

Proceedings against the two men pending in Washington, New York and Rhode Island courts.

FOOD INSPECTOR VISITS WILMINGTON

Wilmington, July 16.—Harry Kalthoff, food inspector of the department of agriculture of Ohio was in Wilmington recently following up the order of L. J. Taber that all eggs be candled.

In his visit here Mr. Kalthoff laid special emphasis on the rule that "no payment either in cash or merchandise shall be made for eggs unfit for food." All eggs must be candled by grocerymen and dealers before they are purchased he pointed out.

Today's Talk

George Matthew Adams

One of the finest Americans that ever breathed is the subject of this little talk. He was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1819, on the same day of the month as Washington, February 22. He was the son of a minister. As a boy, he was not overly studious. They called him rather indolent and "a dreamer."

He managed, however, to graduate from Harvard College studied law—and gave it up. For his heart was in literary work, and in making something permanent out of himself.

At age of 25 he was married to an ardent abolitionist who did much to influence his thought during the stirring anti-slavery times. But he was an All-American to the hilt.

With Longfellow, Emerson and Holmes, Lowell founded the Atlantic Monthly and he was its first editor. Later for about ten years he was the joint editor of the North American Review. Here it was that he added luster to American literature and became one of the leaders in the cause of Freedom.

His "The Vision of Sir Launfal" will live as one of the great contributions to literature. In it he immortalized June. "What is so rare as a day in June?" he wrote. The "clouds climb to life in grass and flowers," and you can "hear life murmur and see it gladden."

Lowell was minister to Spain and to England. At the latter place he was greatly loved, and there is in Westminster Abbey a tablet to his memory.

Yet this man's early life was full of struggle. In one of his letters, he wrote: "I am often down in the mouth; sometimes at the end of a year, when I have done a tolerable share of work and have nothing to show for it, I feel as if I had rather be a clerk than a man of letters." Yet this was the man who was to write such immortal inspirations as these: "Daily, with souls that cringe and plot. We Sinait climb and know it not."

"They are slaves who dare not be in the right with two or three."

"Not failure, but low aim, is crime."

"Be noble! and the nobleness that lies in other men, sleeping, but never dead, Will rise in majesty to meet thine own."

WHEN WE ALL PULL TOGETHER THE TROUBLE IS AS GOOD AS OVER.

We are coming down the inflation stairs, step by step. It takes longer for one man to see a situation than it takes another to see it. It takes one man longer to act on a situation after he sees it than it takes another to act on it. But gradually the industrial situation of this country is becoming understood, the necessity of economic readjustment is being faced squarely by employers as well as by employees, by organized as well as by unorganized labor.

One day it is a bricklayers' union in South Bend, Ind., which agrees to make a start at reviving the motionless building trades by accepting a reduction of wages, while the carpenters' union and the plumbers' union in the same community offer to go as far as ever the bricklayers go. In one place like Elizabeth, N. J., the 800 members of the plumbers' union take a cut of $1 a day to try to put life into the building business there. And so it spread around the country.

But perhaps the most notable example of common sense and public spirit is to the credit of the plasterers' union of Portland, Maine. In April it voted a scale reduction of 12½ per cent and as that has proved to be not enough to start work in its field, it volunteered to submit to still another cut of 12½ per cent. The Portland plasterers are going after their jobs till they find them.

That is the way to get the country back to work. No matter how severe a depression capital and labor have suffered, no matter how dark the outlook has been with nobody willing to stand the costs and pay the prices that were demanded, there is always a market point where goods can sell, industry can operate and wages can be paid.

The merchant knows this to a degree, but after he has cleared his shelves of his existing stock at a sacrifice he cannot complete the whole journey without the aid of the manufacturer and the wage earner. The manufacturer knows it from his experience in selling to the distributor, but he cannot meet the situation without the aid of labor. When, however, they all pull together to get the costs down to the point where the public can buy and will buy the trouble is as good as over.

You might almost say that if manufacturer, merchant and wage earner, acting together and to sufficient extent, could get costs of everything, everywhere down to the right level this very afternoon the country could start ahead again full speed next Monday. But the employers and the employees who do not want to do their share in breaking the economic deadlock simply put off the return of good times for all. They can not prevent it. Sooner or later they have got to knuckle down to the laws of economics. Why not all join in the procession at once?

THE WILL TO WORK.

It is strange to find the belief surviving anywhere that those who sit in the shade, twiddling their thumbs and twaddling with their tongues, deserve pay for it, as though they worked and produced.

The rule of labor is the underpinning of the universe. The Creator himself set the example. He toiled and He rested. He is the "master of every trade." Man, made in His image, can hardly expect divine favor to rest upon sloth.

On every hand, however, we see people trying to crawl under or over or around that uncomfortable prescription about earning one's bread in the sweat of one's brow. On the dance-floor the two-step and the one-step may come and go; but in the workshop the sidestep and the sidestepper are always with us.

Young men are hunting for short cuts to wealth. The shortest cut is the straight line of responsibility and duty and good faith with one's employer.

If your employer happens to be your own self, there are certain things you owe yourself just as much as though somebody else hired you. You owe it to yourself to report for the day's work fit to do it. You owe it to yourself to keep your appointments at the time set for them. You owe it to yourself to be steadily industrious. You cannot in self-respect take money that you have not earned nor demand a fabulous income for a fictitious effort.

HOW TO GROW OLD.

Abraham Oppenheimer, of this city, who is entitled to eight dozen and four candles on his birthday cake, a major in the Mexican War, tells his admiring juniors that the way to do as he has done is to be content with your lot and to drink lemonade.

Some people live to a green old age soberly proceeding along a straight and narrow way, scrupulously fulfilling a regiment diet living up to every least prescription of the game. Others cheerfully disregard every precept that seems to hold out the prospect of long life and seems to find certain mischievous pleasure in advertising their flagrant defiance of the guidebook of the pilgrims to the spring of youth eternal.

Mr. Oppenheimer declares that he has defied all rules, but it would seem that he has followed two good ones: He has kept the physical machine in order and he has abstained from clogging his mind with superfluous worry. One who does these two things is a plausible candidate for the century mark, and he will have a good time as he goes yodeling along life's broad highway. —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THERE SEEMS TO BE SIGNS OF THE STORM ABATING.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The building commission of the new court house held a meeting yesterday, and opened bids for the sale of the court house bonds, to the amount of $84,000. There were thirteen bidders and the bonds were awarded to the Citizens National Bank of this city.

The Citizens Telephone Company is arranging for service to its patrons. Connections with the various phones of the city are being made and next week is hoped that everything will be in "talking order."

The traction car on the D. and X. line jumped the track last night at the derailing switch which guards the C. H. and D. rail road, in this city. The car was clear from danger and no one injured.

Public mail boxes are being put in by the government at convenient points along the rural mail routes out of the city.

The Xenia Driving Club will have its opening tomorrow, when there will be a parade of the nice turn-outs of the city, and some splendid racing.

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

You who shop! Do you know what advertising does for you?

It lowers prices — because it quickens sales and multiplies small profits.

It creates buying opportunities — because frequently merchandise must be converted into immediate cash and advertising provides the means.

It guarantees your purchases — because it represents the pledged word of the merchant and manufacturer — and because it will be fatal to their business if they fail to substantiate their advertising statements.

Advertising permits you to share in the stores' many savings, and choose always among their choicest offerings.

It features always the most desirable — in point of style, quality and price.

It gives your every dollar a purchasing power of 100 per cent, plus.

And more: It models your wardrobe — provides your home-furnishing ideas — prescribes almost every comfort and convenience with which you surround yourself.

In almost every act of your daily existence — consciously or unconsciously — you are influenced by the same vital factor.

Advertising! It is advertising which makes possible the greatest household economies. Extravagance lies in its disregard.

The woman who reads the store news every day is the woman who saves money in the majority of her purchases.

Her less practical sister, who buys at random, pays often a higher price for the same articles.

What markets must be garnered to find food for advertising — what wealth of human interest lingers unseen behind each counter advertising tells earnestly and interestingly.

How the various commodities are secured — the trade center that must be sought — the journeyings abroad in quest of style and fabric — the time and care lavished on selection.

All go to the making of advertising of human interest, which you will find as entertaining as it is instructive — as profitable as it is readable.

There are heart-throbs in Persian rugs, when one reflects that whole human lives are often woven into their texture. There is joy and gladness in those linens and lace — priceless pieces of happy handiwork — which comes overseas from "The Little Green Isle."

There is romance hidden away in the folds of that little advertised gown you looked at the other day. Its style was secured, perhaps, in the Rue de la Paix, Paris, by a clever girl who sketched the original while its unconscious wearer coquetted with an admiring escort.

There is achievement represented in the offering of that piece of dress goods which caught your yesterday's fancy. It happened, perchance, to be part of the limited product of some fine weaver — and its pattern was without duplicate. Only strategy and skill could have secured it at the price.

There is much of life to be read between the lines of that matter-of-fact literature we know as advertising.

To get behind the scenes in the big stores — to get the personal viewpoint of the buyers themselves — to get at the facts behind the goods, you must read advertising closely and continuously.

This, indeed is to get a shopping education almost without price.

FUNERAL SERVICES CONDUCTED FRIDAY

A large company of friends and relatives filled Trinity Methodist Church at three o'clock, Friday afternoon, to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Minnie Jane Harness.

The services were in charge of Rev. V. F. Brown, pastor of that church. Rev. Brown gave a brief discourse, and read two hymns, favorites of the deceased.

Palbearers, were Louis and Aaron Turner, Joseph Bales, Dayton John and Milton Harness. Burial was made at Woodland cemetery.

HIGH MARK SET IN WHEAT CROP

Wilmington, July 16. — Jesse Brown, on the U. S. Moon farm, in the Farmers Station neighborhood, has set a new mark in wheat yields this year, his crop averaging 27 bushels an acre.

The average was made on a 16-acre field and it is understood that the quality of the wheat was considerably better than the general run of wheat this year.

WOULD ALLOW U. S. TO KEEP INITIATIVE

Paris, July 16. — A strong movement to allow the United States to maintain the initiative in world disarmament developed today when the disarmament commission of the league of nations met here.

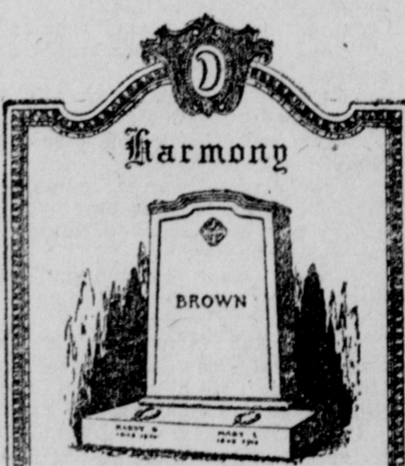

Rene Viviani, head of the commission in opening the meeting referred to President Harding's proposal for a disarmament conference in Washington. He said that it was quite likely that the disarmament activities of the league would meet the same fate as covenant amendments and league mandates both of which were adjourned by the league members until America could actively participate in the debates.

ONIONS PLENTIFUL DECLARE GROWERS

Kenton, July 16. — Prospects for a bumper onion crop throughout the country this year are good according to a majority of the onion growers who attended the national meeting held in Kenton Tuesday.

From present indications the onions on the Hardin county marsh will be harvested later than in other sections. The same acreage was planted as in other years.

POOR OLD NEBRASKA.

Nebraska's eyes are tearful, there's sorrow in her marts; her sons pretend they're cheerful, but they have aching hearts. Oh, still her hogs may fatten, her steers do passing well, from Broken Bow to Stratton, from Hastings to Odell; she still may harvest glory through fresh and salted meat, and live in song and story by raising corn and wheat; her bards may gain the bacon, her healers bring back health, but Bryan has forsaken that sad-eyed commonwealth. There other living wonders make all the welkins ring; the state may always nourish strong men whose aims are high, boy orators may flourish and fade away and die; and Warwicks oft may ramble athwart the pleasant scene, and commoners may gambol upon the Lincoln green; the future is uncharted, we know not what may be, but Bryan has departed, alas and hully chee! No home's so well defended it has no vacant chair, no flock so well attended, but one dead lamb is there. From York to Weeping Water Nebraska feels bereaved, and every son and daughter is sore and deeply peeved; men drink the bitter mixture and say the fact's a crime, for Willyum seemed a fixture, a landmark for all time. The altars all are shaken, and rent the temple's dome, for Bryan has forsaken his old Nebraska home.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT BY FEWER DURING YEAR JUST ENDED

Mis-mated couples who sought relief from marital bonds during the year which ended last June 30, were slightly less than the number which made the same effort in Greene county in the twelve months immediately preceding that period.

The annual report of Clerk of the Courts Charles S. Johnson, just completed by Miss Charlie A. Santmyer, deputy clerk, shows that 106 petitions for divorce were brought during the year, which closed June 30, while the previous twelve months 105 suits for separation were filed. The number of divorce petitions in the court last year was 151, including 51 pending from the previous year. In the year which closed June 30, 1920, 136 actions for divorce were in the courts.

Hymen worked to offset the trouble caused by conjugal infelicity, 304 couples having obtained licenses to wed in the twelve months before last June 30, probate court records show. Absence and neglect continue to be the chief causes on which husbands and wives both base their claims to be freed from chafing bonds. Of the 100 suits for divorce brought last year, 81 named those offenses as grounds for seeking separation, while three named adultery and 16 cruelty.

During the period covered by the just completed report, 126 divorce suits were disposed of, leaving 225 pending. Ninety-nine of the 151 suits in court were brought by wives. Fifty-two husbands asked for separation. Twenty-seven suits brought by husbands were allowed, two refused, and three dismissed. Seventy-four wives were allowed decrees, four were refused decrees and 16 cases dismissed. Custody of children were awarded to mothers in 14 cases and to the father, in two cases.

COST OF TICKETS FOR CHAUTAUQUA SAME THIS YEAR

The Xenia Chautauqua guarantors desire to correct an erroneous report which seems to be circulating in regard to the cost of season tickets. The price of the Redpath season tickets this year is the same as it was last year. But this year, the price of the ticket plus the war tax $2.75 for adults, $1.38 for children from 6 to 14 years of age, is printed on the ticket. Last year the price of the ticket, not including the tax, was printed. So the cost this year is considerably stronger, it is said.

The Chautauqua opens, Monday afternoon, with a concert by the Euterpean Artists, who will also render a program in the evening, at which time Edwin M. Whitney will give a monolog, "In Walked Jimmie." The text will be pitched this year at the site of the new Central High School Building on the Dods' Addition, east of the place where it has been for the past few seasons.

EIGHT CANDIDATES INITIATED FRIDAY

Eight candidates were initiated into the third and fourth degree of the Xenia Grange at the regular meeting held Friday night. Those initiated were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beam, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. David Spahr, Mrs. Mont Osman and John Osman.

A social time with refreshments followed the business session. About 75 members of the Grange were present at the meeting.

QUOIT CLUB HOLDS LAWN FETE FRIDAY

A large crowd attended the lawn fete, held by the Xenia Quoit Club, on the club grounds, in the rear of the Dowling building, Friday night. The grounds were attractively decorated for the occasion with Japanese lanterns placed at intervals over the park. A refreshment stand was the main feature of the evening's program, offering for sale, ice cream, cake, watermelon and lemonade. The proceeds of the sale will go to the benefit of the Quoit Club.

NUMBER OF HORSES SHOW DECREASE

Following the advance reports of the new census, the Horse association of America has just issued figures, which show that Ohio has 98,425 fewer horses at work in cities, towns and villages in 1920 than there were in 1910. Cincinnati alone has dropped from 12,901 horses in 1910 to 5,031 in 1920, a difference of 8,807 horses. It is estimated that one seventh of these were driving horses. This leaves a decrease of 7,603 work horses or 54 per cent.

WAYS OF SERVING THE SUMMER BERRIES

We should not only can and preserve the various fruits as they appear in garden or market stall, but also serve an abundance of them on our table. Your family will enjoy the following berry recipes:

Berry Biscuit: Sift 1 quart of flour with 4 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 teaspoon of salt. Work into this, with the fingertips, 3 tablespoons of shortening and add 2 tablespoons of sugar, 1 pint of any kind of berries, and a sprinkling of nutmeg if liked. Cut in, with a knife, and very lightly, enough sweet milk to roll out. Then use your rolling pin on it lightly, on a floured board, rolling it 3/4 of an inch thick; cut with a biscuit cutter and pack closely in a greased pan. Brush tops with milk and take in a hot oven from 15 to 20 minutes. Rub a little butter over the tops when you take them from the oven. Serve at once.

Steamed Berry Pudding: (Fine for a company meal). Beat to a cream 1 scant cup of butter and 1 cup of granulated sugar combined. Then add 4 well beaten eggs, 1 cup of sour milk in which 1 teaspoon of soda has been dissolved, and 4 cups of flour very gradually. (A little of the 4 cups of flour should be saved out for dredging the berries). Now carefully fold in the dredged berries—either blackberries, raspberries or blueberries—and pour the mixture into a well-greased pudding mold; steam for 3 hours. If you do not possess a regular pudding mold, simply put the mixture into a small pail which has a tight-fitting cover and place it, covered, in a larger vessel containing boiling water; let the water boil up around the pail for 3 hours. Serve this pudding with the following sauce:

Liquid Sauce for Berry Pudding: Thicken 1 cup of boiling water with 1 tablespoon of cornstarch which has been dissolved in a little cold water. Cream together 1 cup of sugar and 1/2 cup of butter and add these to the boiling water and cornstarch; flavor with 2 teaspoons of strong vinegar and add either 2 tablespoons of lemon juice or 1-2 teaspoon of lemon extract. Serve very hot.

Baked Blackberry Dumpling: Nearly fill a baking dish with the berries, which have been sweetened to taste, and shake a little flour over them. Cover them with a biscuit-dough crust, made by sifting together 1 cup of flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt and rubbing into this dry mixture 2 tablespoons of shortening; add only enough milk to make a dough that will roll, then toss on a floured board, roll lightly to 1/2 inch in thickness and as nearly circular as possible, and place this over the berries. Brush with milk and bake about 25 minutes in a hot oven. Serve with sweetened cream or top-milk.

Berry Pudding (Either blackberries or raspberries may be used). Combine 2 cups of crushed berries (measured after crushing), 2 cups of boiling water, 3/4 cup of sugar, and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Then add to these 1-2 cup of cornstarch which has been wet with enough cold water to make a thick paste of it. Stir constantly until this mixture boils and thickens, then place it over hot water and cook for 30 minutes. Cool slightly, add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, and pour it into the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs, stirring until the eggwhites are well folded in. Then turn it into a wet mold and place in a cool spot until coagulated. Now chill and at mealtime dip the mold for an instant up to its rim in hot water (to loosen the pudding) and turn it upside down on a dessert platter. Serve with sweetened cream.

VERA FINDS INACTION DIFFICULT

Chapter 94
While I thanked Mrs. Aldrich for her effort to straighten out my tangle, yet I had no hope that she could. In fact that anyone could. I recalled how often Keith had declared he would not break the promise given to Margaret; the intense way she had held him to the letter of it. No there was no hope he would ever give up his sister for me, merely a wife.

If I only had had the opportunity to show him what a good wife I would have been, if only I could have been a housekeeper for him I was sure I could and would have made him happy, and been happy myself. I never knew more than she told me what Mrs. Aldrich had said to Keith but the days passed and no letter came.

"He never will give her up, never say that he will provide a separate home for me," I said to her one day. "Never is a long time, my dear, and I have faith that I shall yet know he has given you your home."

I had not looked for the papers quite so eagerly, thinking that perhaps Keith would write Mrs. Aldrich again in care of her friend. But when she failed to hear I once more examined them as carefully as at first.

I would not give in I would have my Lares and Penates, and I would set them up in a home of my own. On everything else I would be pliable to Keith's desires if ever he should ask me, but in that I was adamant.

The line of inaction I laid out for myself was not easy to follow. Reality I often doubted if I would have strength to carry out my plans so discouraged and I often became, I would not win my place in his heart or his home by complaining or by whining. I would have it because it was my right; and because he recognized that right.

I wanted, too, that Keith should love me. I had none of the coquetry which some women have. I had realized long before that there was but one man to whom I would ever give myself—my own husband. That he never had felt for me the same oneness of desire I was sure. That he had loved me in his own way at first I was equally as positive.

At times the thought came over me that I did not know how to make a man love me as I wished to be loved or how to hold the love that once had been mine—in a measure. Keith had married me, but he was still in a way (always had been) devoted to Alice De Lisle, the sweet heart of his youth. Now that I had left him, this fact loomed large before me.

I commenced to order the society powers; to scan them for news of those I knew. Occasionally I would see names, Margaret's Mrs. Hunter's, Clarence Butler. But I saw nothing of Keith or Margaret's and of Alice De Lisle.

Margaret and Keith were, of course, again in mourning, unable to take part in social functions. Margaret though would be sure to have Alice De Lisle at the house of-ten. I could not forget how she had kept the widow with them when I was with Mother Sanderson.

Several times I had spoken of taking a position in Boston—if I could obtain one, but each time Mrs. Aldrich had urged me to remain with her; urging her need of companionship, my loneliness.

Now as the days passed and we heard no more from Keith, I made up my mind that he had decided to abide by what he had said. He would not break a silly promise given under stress to a selfish sister for my sake. "It only proves how little he loves me," I murmured as I thought of him, "how very little he cares what becomes of me."

"I must get work," I said to Mrs. Aldrich, "my money went last forever, even though you accept so little." Now that I helped her she would take only $6 a week.

"Stay with me until after the holidays; then if you insist I will not urge you to remain longer."

So it was decided. It had been April when I left Keith. I should have been away the better part of a year by the time she had set. If in 9 or 10 months, he could not feel that he wanted me to come back he never would desire me. I did not think that in his case absence would make the heart grow fonder. Rather, I felt that with each day's absence he was growing farther away from me, more under Margaret's influence, nearer to Alice De Lisle, yet I would not, I could not give in.

One day I saw Tom Benedict's name in the paper. I was really shocked to find how completely he had passed from my mind. How this young man with whom I had been a bit intrigued because happy and my natural self with him, had passed from my thoughts—as completely as from my life. And I had tried to make Keith a little jealous because of Tom's boyish liking for me. It was almost ridiculous.
